

Good morning to all my respected teachers, guardians, and dear friends.

First of all, I would like to thank you for giving me such a great opportunity to speak on Republic Day.

Within the last 64 years, since 15th August in 1947, democracy and freedom have flourished in India as well - that's why we call this Independence Day (from British Rule).

However, since 1950 on 26 January we celebrate Republic Day.

The Constitution of India came into force on 26 January 1950, so we celebrate this day as Republic Day every year. In this year 2022, we are celebrating the 73rd Republic Day of India.

Every citizen living in this country should be given equal rights and no one can become the chief minister of that place unless they are elected by people as their leader or they get elected as Chief Minister. It is our right to choose the best prime minister or any other leader who can lead the country in a better direction.

Our leader should have enough skill to think like a country, not just his city or state. He should be able to make decisions that benefit all of the people in the country.

The great leaders and freedom fighters of our country are Mahatma Gandhi, Bhagat Singh, Chandrashekhar Azad, Lala Lajpat Rai, Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel, Lal Bahadur Shastri & Many more. These people worked hard to make India a free country from the colonial rule of Britain so we should always remember them for this great service they have given us as Indians. We should remember the people who have risked their lives so that we can think freely and live happily in our country.

Our first Indian President was Dr. Rajendra Prasad who said that “Under the jurisdiction of one Constitution and one Union, we have got together the entire part of this vast land which is the population of more than 320 crore men and women living here- Takes responsibility for welfare”.

It is a shame that we are fighting crime, corruption, and violence in our country. Everyone needs to work together to help people who can't get out of the slavery they are facing right now

In order for us to make a change we need to understand the problems and try and fix them as well as helps others who are also in the same situation by sharing with each other how we solved it or what helped us out of that problem/solution which helped us on our journey to becoming an independent country. Thus, the day is a celebration and a time for unity in India as it had formally become one of the largest democratic republics in world history with its independence from British rule.

India was an ancient civilization that even survived under many wars; however when we look back at it now all these men come into mind like several prominent leaders such as Mahatma Gandhi, Indira Gandhi (the first female prime minister of India) Lal Bahadur Shastri, Rajiv Gandhi (who was assassinated after leading the country for six years), Jawaharlal Nehru and many others.

Dr. Kalam has said that if a country can become corruption free and makes its people more intelligent it will make a significant difference in the world.

As citizens of India, we should think about things seriously and take them forward in our country as much as we can do so successfully through teamwork with other countries on achieving sustainable development goals for our nation's future generations that meets.

My talk is over now; let's end it by thanking everyone who was in the audience and making this successful event happen!

Jai Hind /Jai Bharat
